

PLAN AIR TERMINAL IN NEWARK, BIGGEST IN ENTIRE WORLD

Practical Aircraft Men Seek Land for Site and Hint at Big Things.

Plans to make Newark a trans-continental depot for airships with an industry employing approximately 5,000 men have been placed before City Commissioner Thomas L. Raymond by a group of men headed by Paul Wittman, head of the Aircraft Corporation of Hahnbrook Heights. A conference at which details will be discussed will be held next Wednesday in Commissioner Raymond's office in Newark.

Men experienced in aeronautics and financiers are behind the proposition, according to Mr. Wittman. He says they desire to acquire land on the south side of the Port Newark development. This property is being filled in and will be a duplicate of improved land on which the submarine boat corporation and the Government warehouses stand.

If the company carries out the plans said to have been placed before the city officials Newark would become the centre of aerial navigation in this country.

It would become the terminal of passenger, freight and air mail service between here and European points, and between here and Chicago. The promoters have hopes of interesting the Government. Dirigibles, seaplanes and airplanes would be used in the transportation of freight and passengers.

It was intimated to the City Commissioner that in case the plans are carried out millions will eventually be invested in the Newark air terminal. This would include American and foreign capital.

It is hinted that the plans relate to a scheme to connect this country with Germany in an aerial service. Zeppelin transportation between these countries was made possible by an agreement made at the Washington Disarmament Conference.

In conjunction with the air station industrial plants would be constructed where airplanes, seaplanes and dirigibles could be built. Tentative plans provide for industries that would employ approximately 5,000 men. A plant for the manufacture of helium gas would be erected in connection with the enterprise.

An inspection of the site desired has been made. The company will seek five acres of land at the west end of the south side of the channel. It is necessary to have a water front of at least 1,000 feet for seaplane launching and for docks and sheds for dirigibles.

Air mail received at Hazlehurst Field, it is said, could be received at the proposed terminal and transported to New York much cheaper than it costs now. The saving to the Government by maintaining a station such as proposed, it is said, would amount to $200,000 or more a year.
